MASTER'S PROGRAMS IN ACCOUNTING

The Master of Accountancy in Business: Accounting (M.Acc.) degree helps students develop strong technical and professional accounting skills that qualify them to sit for the CPA exam. Careers as professional accountants in public accounting, financial institutions, government, industry, or nonprofit organizations are possible upon graduation. For additional information see the program website (https://business.wisc.edu/graduate/masters/accountancy/).

This program is open to any student who has earned a four-year undergraduate degree, in any discipline, from an accredited institution.

Most students pursuing this program will complete a relevant internship in public or corporate accounting. No prior professional work experience is required for admission to the program.

In addition to building strong, technical accounting skills, this program focuses on overall professional development. Curricular and co-curricular elements incorporate the development of critical thinking and analysis, research, writing and presentation skills. Additionally, all students are required to engage an ethics and professionalism program aimed at preparing students to enter a profession where strong ethical standards are paramount.

CERTIFICATION/LICENSURE

The MAcc program meets the licensing requirements in most jurisdictions, though students pursuing their license in California, Texas and Colorado are required to take a board-approved accounting ethics course (reflected on their transcript). Most graduate students complete this requirement post-graduation via an online course through a community college. While the MAcc curriculum integrates ethics throughout the curriculum (as validated by program accreditation), ethics is not reflected on a student's transcript. Students are strongly encouraged to seek out advising early regarding CPA qualifications as they range by state/jurisdiction.

PROFESSIONAL CERTIFICATION/LICENSURE DISCLOSURE (NC-SARA)

The United States Department of Education requires institutions that provide distance education to disclose information for programs leading to professional certification or licensure about whether each program meets state educational requirements for initial licensure or certification. Following is this disclosure information for this program:
