

ENVIRONMENTAL SOIL SCIENCE, CERTIFICATE

RESOURCES AND SCHOLARSHIPS

RESOURCES AND SCHOLARSHIPS

Financial support in the form of scholarships, part-time employment, paid internships, and work-study programs is available to qualified undergraduate students. Students with a primary major in the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences receive more than $1.25 million in scholarships annually. Additionally, the Department of Soil and Environmental Sciences is proud to offer numerous scholarships annually to students pursuing the Certificate in Environmental Soil Science.