Asian American Studies, Certificate

The Asian American studies certificate program provides students with an opportunity to develop a sustained intellectual focus on Asian American racial formation, history, literature, and culture. Interdisciplinary in nature, the certificate can be obtained by completing 15 credits of coursework.

Students receiving a certificate will have a transcript notation indicating that they have received a certificate in Asian American studies. A certificate in Asian American studies acknowledges that a student has made a significant effort to learn about Asian American history and culture, the social location of Asian Americans in U.S. society and transnationally, and the experiences of Asian Americans, historically and contemporarily.

The certificate program is open to any undergraduate student regardless of major or college who has an interest in Asian American studies and is in good academic standing at the University of Wisconsin—Madison. Interested students should contact Program Administrator/Academic Advisor Nhung Nguyen (https://aas.wiscweb.wisc.edu/staff/nhungnguyen) to discuss their study plans and file a Certificate Declaration form. While many of the courses below are cross-listed, registration under Asian American ensures that credits earned for the certificate are recognized by the registrar's office upon filing a Certificate Declaration form. Not all courses are offered each term. Topic courses may be repeated for credit.
